- Understand course terminology;
- Recognize the role of government in enforcing and inclusion practices;
- Examine current barriers to optimal use of inclusion and diversity in the workplace; and to
- Distinguish organizations that value and effectively integrate diversity in the workplace.

Teaching Philosophy

This course is intended to create an environment where both the students and instructor bring their experiences and knowledge to the discussion forum to create a successful learning experience. The role of the instructor is to facilitate and guide student learning. The role of the student is to be an active, responsible, and dedicated learner. The topics discussed in this course can be sensitive. All are expected to respect the learning processes of others and to dialogue maturely and tactfully.

Students should contact the instructor if they are unclear regarding course expectations or outcomes. This syllabus is a guide only; it is not conclusive.

Assignments, Grading, and Due Dates:

Introductory Essay: Hardcopy due first night of class.

Compose a five to seven (of content) page essay (APA, Times New Roman 12 pt. font, double spaced, 1-inch margins). Cover a cover page and references list. Reference the OWL at Purdue University for an example of an APA formatted essay. Include at least twelve (12) scholarly references involving theories, concepts, and issues related to Social Justice, diversity, and inclusion.

Essay topic: Explain what diversity and social justice mean to you. What has been your experience of diversity and social justice thus far in your life (if any)?

Reading Assignments:

Students should read the assigned text chapters and lectures.

Class Participation or Discussion:

Class participation is an essential element of this course.

Exam: There will be an exam on Sunday, testing students' knowledge of social-justice-related terminology.

Narrated Presentation:

Students present on Saturday and Sunday.

- You will select a topic inspired by an issue or chapter from the "Social Justice" text for your presentation and an organization.
 - You will notify the instructor in advance of the topic you wish to present, providing details concerning why you chose the topic.
- Discuss the core issues relating to the topic.
- Present in detail the arguments of both the "pro" and "con" presenters.
- Explain how this topic relates to social justice.
- Choose an organization that has dealt with the social justice aspects of this topic?
 - What was the issue?
 - What stance did they take?
- Present your perspective on the topic.
- You must include additional scholarly research beyond the text to support your argument.
- Did your research reinforce or expand your perspective on the topic?
- Creativity is encouraged during presentations.

Final Essay:

This assignment is due one week after the completion of the course (Dec19). This due date may change based upon the due dates for grades at the end of the semester. The essay is the last opportunity to showcase your writing skills and your understanding of the course terminology.

Use the final essay to expand upon the topic presented in your narrated presentation. Compose a seven to nine-page paper (APA, Times New Roman 12 pt font, double spaced, 1-inch margins) using at least eighteen (18) scholarly references involving theories, concepts, and issues related to Social Justice and inclusion within an actual, existing organization.

You should address the following points in your paper:

- Explain the nature and core issue of the topic.
- Explain the opposing arguments presented by the two authors?
- Explain the concept of Social Justice and how it relates to your topic.
- Provide an example of an organization intrinsically linked to the topic.
 - What was the organization's stance on the topic?
 - How was it resolved or remedied?
 - What paradigms, organizing principles, or theoretical concepts were used?
 - Were benchmarks developed regarding the issue?
 - Do you agree with the resolution mechanism?
- How has your perspective altered or remained the same regarding the issue?
- What are some important lessons that were from this particular experience?

Grading:

This is a letter-graded course: A, B, C, D, or F.

Assignment	Due Date	Percent of Grade
Introductory Paper	Turn in the first night of the class	30%
Class Participation	Throughout the course	20%
Narrated Presentation	Due the end of Week Ten	30%

Notice: Failure to meet assignment due dates could result in a grade of I (Incomplete) and may adversely impact Tuition Assistance and/or Financial Aid.

POLICIES AND NOTICES

Attendance/Grade Policy

Attendance and participation in interaction, individual assignments, group exercises, simulations, role-playing, etc., are valuable aspects of any course because much of the learning comes from discussions in class with other students. Therefore, it is expected that you attend all classes and be on time except for excused emergencies.

Excused absences are given for professor-mandated activities or legally required activities such as emergencies or military assignments. The University's policy is to excuse students' absences that result from religious observances and provide without penalty for the rescheduling of examinations and additional required classwork that may fall on religious holidays. In addition, unavoidable personal emergencies, including (but not limited to) serious illness; delays in getting to class because of accidents, etc.; deaths and funerals, and hazardous road conditions will be excused.

If you are obtaining financial assistance (TA, STAP, FA, VA, Scholarship, etc.) to pay all or part of your tuition cost, you must follow your funding agency/institution's policy regarding "I" (Incomplete) grades unless the timeline is longer than what the University policy allows then you must adhere to the University policy. Students who receive Financial Aid must resolve/complete any "I" (Incomplete) grades by the end of the term or he/she may be placed on "financial aid probation." If the "I" grade is not resolved/completed by the end of the following term, the student's Financial Aid may be suspended make the student ineligible for further Financial Aid.

Students are responsible for meeting the guidelines of Tuition Assistance and Veterans Assistance. See the education counselor at your local education center for a complete description of your TA or VA requirements.

OU faculty will submit grades online through ONE not later than 30 days after the course end date. Course end dates are approximately one calendar month after the final seminar date on this syllabus and are provided on the official scheduling website for reference.

Academic Integrity and Student Conduct

Academic integrity means honesty and responsibility in scholarship. Academic assignments exist to help students learn; grades exist to show how fully this goal is attained. Therefore all work and all grades should result from the student's own understanding and effort.

Academic misconduct is any act which improperly affects the evaluation of a student's academic performance or achievement. Misconduct occurs when the student either knows or reasonably should know that the act constitutes misconduct. Academic misconduct includes: cheating and using unauthorized materials on examinations and other assignments; improper collaboration, submitting the same assignment for different classes (self-plagiarism); fabrication, forgery, alteration of documents, lying, etc...in order to obtain an academic advantage; assisting others in academic misconduct; attempting to commit academic misconduct; destruction of property, hacking, etc...; intimidation and interference with integrity process; and plagiarism. All students should review the Student's Guide to Academic Integrity at http://integrity.ou.edu/students_guide.html

Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. All students should review policies regarding student conduct at <http://studentconduct.ou.edu/>
