IAS 5940-237: Topics in International Studies: Global Climate Change Policy

Course Description:
Climate change is a difficult, contentious, and important issue. Climate change will also likely be the defining environmental issue of the 21st century. This course will investigate the complexity of climate change policy by exploring the success and failures of current and past climate change policies, as well as the possibilities for the future. Through this course, we will integrate the biological, physical, and social sciences and attempt to answer many important questions such as: What is the scientific basis for our understanding of climate change, and in what ways is that scientific basis uncertain? What policy solutions might be necessary or preferred to address climate change? And, what are the challenges and barriers to developing effective climate change policy?

Class Dates, Location and Hours:
- Dates: October 1 – 6, 2019
- Location: Aviano AB, Italy. Classroom location to be determined.

Course Objectives:
By the end of this course, students will be able to:
- Explain and evaluate the evidence for human-caused climate change.
- Explain and quantify the impacts of climate change on human well-being and the natural world, and evaluate means by which these impacts can be reduced (resiliency and adaptation).
- Evaluate the successes and failures of past national and international efforts to address climate change, and evaluate prospects for future management of climate change.
- Assess the communication of science and policy for climate change, as a successful or unsuccessful example of how science and policy can and should inform one another.
Course Outline:

Tuesday, October 1 – Review of climate change science and the impacts of climate change

- First essay assignment (1250 words) due to Canvas prior to our first class meeting on Tuesday, October 1: Summarize the scientific basis for human-induced climate change. Outline the historical data associated with climate change, some of the major arguments for man’s role in climate change, and the uncertainties associated with the idea of human-induced climate change. Review the IPCC Working Group I report for information (http://www.ipcc.ch).

Wednesday, October 2 – How does climate change policy work?

- Policy types
- Economics Primer

Thursday, October 3 – Climate change policies.

- IPCC

Friday, October 4 – The psychology of climate change

- Communication of science

Saturday, October 5 – Student presentations

- Students will prepare and deliver a 10-minute presentation on a topic related to climate change policy, and then lead a short (approximately 5-minute) discussion. I suggest you submit your topics to me beforehand and begin this process at least a week before classes begin.

Sunday, October 6 – The future of climate change policy

Assignments, Grading and Due Dates:

There are four graded components to the course (see table below): a pre-course paper of approximately 1250 words due prior to the first class meeting; a student presentation on a climate change topic not covered in the course; contributions to class discussions; and a post-course essay of 2000 words due by 11:59pm on Tuesday, November 5.

The instructor will be available for consultation via email (preferred) in advance of the course, so that students wishing to obtain guidance on the first essay may do so. All students should check their OU email regularly after September 2 for communications from the instructor about the course.

Grading:

This is a letter-graded course: A, B, C, D, or F.

Notice: Failure to meet assignment due dates could result in a grade of I (Incomplete) and may adversely impact Tuition Assistance and/or Financial Aid.
POLICIES AND NOTICES

Attendance/Grade Policy

Attendance and participation in interaction, individual assignments, group exercises, simulations, role playing, etc. are valuable aspects of any course because much of the learning comes from discussions in class with other students. It is expected that you attend all classes and be on time except for excused emergencies.

Excused absences are given for professor mandated activities or legally required activities such as emergencies or military assignments. It is the policy of the University to excuse absences of students that result from religious observances and to provide without penalty for the rescheduling of examinations and additional required class work that may fall on religious holidays. Unavoidable personal emergencies, including (but not limited to) serious illness; delays in getting to class because of accidents, etc.; deaths and funerals, and hazardous road conditions will be excused.

If you are obtaining financial assistance (TA, STAP, FA, VA, Scholarship, etc.) to pay all or part of your tuition cost, you must follow your funding agency/institution’s policy regarding “I” (Incomplete) grades unless the timeline is longer than what the University policy allows then you must adhere to the University policy. Students who receive Financial Aid must resolve/complete any “I” (Incomplete) grades by the end of the term or he/she may be placed on “financial aid probation.” If the “I” grade is not resolved/completed by the end of the following term, the student’s Financial Aid may be suspended make the student ineligible for further Financial Aid.

Students are responsible for meeting the guidelines of Tuition Assistance and Veterans Assistance. See the education counselor at your local education center for a complete description of your TA or VA requirements.

Academic Integrity and Student Conduct

Academic integrity means honesty and responsibility in scholarship. Academic assignments exist to help students learn; grades exist to show how fully this goal is attained. Therefore all work and all grades should result from the student's own understanding and effort.

Academic misconduct is any act which improperly affects the evaluation of a student’s academic performance or achievement. Misconduct occurs when the student either knows or reasonably should know that the act constitutes misconduct. Academic misconduct includes: cheating and using unauthorized materials on examinations and other assignments; improper collaboration, submitting the same assignment for different classes (self-plagiarism); fabrication, forgery, alteration of documents, lying, etc…in order to obtain an academic advantage; assisting others in academic misconduct; attempting to commit academic misconduct; destruction of property, hacking, etc…; intimidation and interference with integrity process; and plagiarism. All students should review the Student’s Guide to Academic Integrity at http://integrity.ou.edu/students_guide.html

Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. All students should review policies regarding student conduct at http://studentconduct.ou.edu/

Accommodation Statement

The University of Oklahoma is committed to making its activities as accessible as possible. For accommodations on the basis of disability, please contact your local OU Site Director.

Adjustment for Pregnancy/Childbirth-Related Issues

Should you need modifications or adjustments to your course requirements because of documented pregnancy-related or childbirth-related issues, please contact me as soon as possible to discuss. Generally, modifications will be made where medically necessary and similar in scope to accommodations based on temporary disability.
