

Directions to Officers' Club, Ramstein Air Force Base

Officers' Club
Ramstein Air Base, Germany
Lincoln Boulevard
Building 302; 66877

There are three gates at Ramstein A.B.: East, West, and LVIS Gate. If you have any guests that are needing to be signed in, you must come to the Visitors' Center at the West Gate (main gate). For your GPS, please enter "Ramstein-Miesenbach, 66877." The gate is right outside this village. Whether you are taking the A6 or driving on the backroads, there will be several signs directing you towards the base. The Visitor's Center will be on your right as you approach the West gate. The Visitor's center itself is broken into two separate buildings connected by a roof. For short term passes you will go to the building on the left. Once you enter the main gate, keep driving straight until you enter a round-about. Take the third exit (left turn) in the round-about. The O'Club will be on your right about halfway up the street. If you come to another round-about you have passed the Club. If the parking lot in front of the club is full, please park in the large parking lot caddy-corner across the street by the church.

If entering from the East Gate, you will continue straight from the gate towards a large, multilane round about. You will go straight through this round-about. You will continue straight until you get to another single-lane round-about; take a right here. The club is about halfway up the street on the right side. If you hit another round-about you have gone too far.

We will have some sign boards with directional arrows out but if it is windy these tend to fall over. Google maps should be able to get you to the Club simply by typing in Ramstein Officer's Club.
