Leadership skills transcend all career fields. Leadership, however, is not just for supervisors and management. Leadership begins at all levels—even personal, everyday tasks. The College of Professional and Continuing Studies Master of Arts in Administrative Leadership (MAAL) equips students with the ability to draw on many diverse approaches to new ideas, projects and challenges through a strong foundation in management.

A Degree Designed with You in Mind
This degree is a 33-hour program designed for you, the working adult. In the Administrative Leadership program, you choose between tracks with an emphasis in Organizational Leadership, Volunteer and Nonprofit Leadership, or Government and Military Leadership. You can complete courses on your schedule, while you learn and interact in an online, onsite or hybrid environment.

Graduate Program FAQs

What are admission requirements?
Graduate admission is based on an evaluation of an applicant’s overall record, experience, personal qualifications and proposed area of study. If your cumulative GPA is below a 3.0, you may be asked to submit an additional writing sample to illustrate your critical thinking skills.

What are the required application materials?
An OU application, resume, 300-500 word statement of goals and official transcripts from your last degree-granting institution.

How many hours can I enroll in per semester?
Because most PACS students are working adults with additional responsibilities, we normally recommend no more than two courses (six hours) each fall and spring semester and one course (three hours) in the summer semester.

How long will it take to complete the program?
If following the recommended enrollment timeline, the degree can be completed in two years and one semester.

How much will it cost?
Tuition and fees are based on whether you are a resident of Oklahoma, non-resident, affiliated with a branch of the military or if you are certified/sworn law enforcement. Partnership rates may apply.
