Course Objectives:

This course has theoretical and experiential components to enhance the students' cognitive and affective understanding of the major concepts covered in the course.

Course Outline:

- Dimensions, concepts, and issues of cultural diversity related to race and ethnicity in US society, the world, the workplace, and other types of formal and informal organizations.
- Concepts and issues related to social class and sexism.
- Issues related to ageism, religious diversity, and sexual orientation
- Issues of physical and mental disability, weight and appearance, and concept of reasonable accommodation.
- Possible resolution of cultural diversity issues; development of cultural diversity education and training.

Assignments, Grading and Due Dates:

Consistent with the tradition of a graduate seminar, the course has been designed to be highly-interactive, providing the students with plenty of opportunities for active student learning and participation, which is considered critical to the success of the course. The course will consist of open class discussions, collaborative learning exercises, team and individual presentations, lectures, PowerPoint presentations, video presentations, and relevant simulation exercises.

Readings:

Consistent with pre-class expectations, read the required textbook prior to the first class session.

Paper: Personal Understanding of Cultural Diversity

Based on the readings from the textbook and/or your personal knowledge and experience with any form of cultural diversity, write a three to four paged report explaining your personal understanding of the topic (e.g., how do you see or assess the current status of cultural diversity or relations in the US or elsewhere; why do you think cultural conflicts are common place in the US or elsewhere; and how do you think peoples may begin to alleviate or resolve some of the issues you have articulated. These essays will form the bases for initial discussion about cultural diversity and relations. Due: This assignment must be turned in to the professor at the first class session.

Literature Search:

Search in the literature base for scholarly pieces of work involving theories, concepts, or issues related to cultural diversity or relations in the US or elsewhere. Literature searches will be used for your final group presentation/final. The literature searches should deal with a different aspect of cultural diversity (such as race, religion, gender, social class, or nationality). These materials may be from refereed and non-referred journals, books, monographs, magazines, or well-circulated newspapers, training documents, and even the internet (use your discretion when using this medium).

Final: Group Presentation

You will work with your assigned group to complete your final/presentations. Your group will be given time at the end of each session to work together on this project/final. Using the results of the literature search, you are required to collaborate within your group and prepare a presentation (PowerPoint) using all of the collected, scholarly pieces. Each presentation should give a brief discussion of the points raised and then analyze the points using the concepts of cultural diversity and relations discussed in class or covered in the textbook. For example, explain why these points make or do not make sense to your group, the logic or completeness of their arguments, and the potential implications of these concepts for understanding, managing, improving, or resolving cultural diversity issues in the workplace or globally. This exercise is calling for an analysis of the points rather than a journalist reporting of the article or book. Due: Presentations will be given at the last class session. This exercise, in essence, serves as your final exam.

Participation:

The quality of your class participation is determined by three factors: (1) your active participation in open class discussions; (2) your participation in collaborative work based on team evaluations; and (3) the quality of your class presentations.

At the end of class, there will be an opportunity for you to offer team evaluations relative to other students' performances in collaborative activities.

Grading:

This is a letter-graded course: A, B, C, D, or F. The penalty for late papers will be a 10% reduction to your overall course grade.

Description	Due Date	Percent of Course Grade
Assignment #1: Paper- Personal Knowledge &/or Experience with any form of Cultural Diversity	First class session.	25
Assignment #2: Group Presentation	(Final Exam) Last class session	45

POLICIES AND NOTICES

Attendance/Grade Policy

Attendance and participation in interaction, individual assignments, group exercises, simulations, role playing, etc. are valuable aspects of any course because much of the learning comes from discussions in class with other students. It is expected that you attend all classes and be on time except for excused emergencies.

Excused absences are given for professor mandated activities or legally required activities such as emergencies or military assignments. It is the policy of the University to excuse absences of students that result from religious observances and to provide without penalty for the rescheduling of examinations and additional required class work that may fall on religious holidays. Unavoidable personal emergencies, including (but not limited to) serious illness; delays in getting to class because of accidents, etc.; deaths and funerals, and hazardous road conditions will be excused.

If you are obtaining financial assistance (TA, STAP, FA, VA, Scholarship, etc.) to pay all or part of your tuition cost, you must follow your funding agency/institution's policy regarding "I" (Incomplete) grades unless the timeline is longer than what the University policy allows then you must adhere to the University policy. Students who receive Financial Aid must resolve/complete any "I" (Incomplete) grades by the end of the term or he/she may be placed on "financial aid probation." If the "I" grade is not resolved/completed by the end of the following term, the student's Financial Aid may be suspended making the student ineligible for further Financial Aid.

Students are responsible for meeting the guidelines of Tuition Assistance and Veterans Assistance. See the education counselor at your local education center for a complete description of your TA or VA requirements.

Academic Integrity and Student Conduct

Academic integrity means honesty and responsibility in scholarship. Academic assignments exist to help students learn; grades exist to show how fully this goal is attained. Therefore all work and all grades should result from the student's own understanding and effort.

Academic misconduct is any act which improperly affects the evaluation of a student's academic performance or achievement. Misconduct occurs when the student either knows or reasonably should know that the act constitutes misconduct. Academic misconduct includes: cheating and using unauthorized materials on examinations and other assignments; improper collaboration, submitting the same assignment for different classes (self-plagiarism); fabrication, forgery, alteration of documents, lying, etc...in order to obtain an academic advantage; assisting others in academic misconduct; attempting to commit academic misconduct; destruction of property, hacking, etc...; intimidation and interference with integrity process; and plagiarism. All students should review the Student's Guide to Academic Integrity at http://integrity.ou.edu/students_guide.html

Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. All students should review policies regarding student conduct at <http://studentconduct.ou.edu/>
