PSC 5550-225: Problems in International Relations: Politics of the Global Financial Crisis

Course Description:
Though there has been gradual if uneven economic recovery, the global financial crisis of 2008-9 and its aftermath continues to have dramatic consequences across governments and international organizations worldwide. What were the causes of the financial crisis? What lessons can we extract from earlier episodes of global economic turmoil? Is there adequate global leadership to address the implications of the crisis? Where might such leadership come from at a time when the global distribution of power has shifted dramatically, marked by a retreat from US economic preeminence and the rise of China, India, Brazil, Russia and other developing countries?

This is a compressed online course; students should be prepared for intensive engagement in the course materials and discussions throughout the class.

Assignments, Grading and Due Dates:

This is a 3 credit hour course. Requirements include two analytical essays of about 1250 words (5 double-spaced pages) and 1500 words (6 double-spaced pages) respectively and very active participation in intensive online class discussions.

The instructor will be available for consultation via e-mail in advance of the course. It is critical for students to check both their OU e-mail and the course site on Canvas regularly in the weeks prior to the start of the course and throughout the duration of the course.

Participation:

The participation grade will be based on quality – not simply quantity – of contributions to the discussion. Students will be expected to contribute repeatedly throughout the course of each discussion AND to read all or most of the discussions posted by their peers and by the instructor.

Schedule of Assignments and Discussions: Note that all times are Central Standard Time

First Class Segment (September 19-21): The Great Depression, Japan's lost decade, and the 2008-9 Global Financial Crisis

Readings:

• Bruner and Carr, pp. 1-187.

First essay assignment of 1250 words due to Canvas dropbox by noon on Tuesday, September 19, 2017: What are the most crucial elements of an effective response to a financial crisis? Why is it such a challenge to produce an effective response? Why are crises resistant to swift resolution? In your answer: (i) focus on a small number of critical components of an effective response rather than necessarily trying to be exhaustive; (ii) consider political as well as economic dimensions of the response (keep in mind that our course is "The Politics of the Global Financial Crisis"); and (iii) draw on evidence from the 1907 crisis, the Great Depression, Japan's crisis, as well as the current financial crisis, to illustrate your argument (you do not have to draw examples from all of these episodes; bring in any examples or evidence relevant to your argument). Be certain to cite sources appropriately throughout your paper, even if you only use the assigned course readings.

First Online Discussion: noon, Tuesday, September 19 to noon Thursday, September 21

Discussion prompt to be posted no later than Monday, September 18

Second Class Segment (September 22-25): The Impact on the Developing World and Less Developed Countries

Readings:

• Blustein, pp. 1-235.

Second Online Discussion: noon, Friday, September 22 to noon Sunday, September 24

Discussion prompt to be posted by evening of Thursday, September 21

Third Discussion/Class debate: noon, Monday, Sep 25 to noon, Wednesday, Sep 27:

Is the global financial system nurturing or hostile toward developing economies?

Readings:

• Krugman, all.

Final course essay of 1500 words due to the Canvas dropbox by noon CST, Thursday, September 28

We live in an era marked by the increasing global diffusion of economic power, along with the high level of uncertainty associated with the present financial crisis. Such a combination seems potentially troubling at a time when, as we have discussed in the course, the prospect for global economic stability and prosperity depends upon collective action and international cooperation. Do you believe we are likely to see the sort of global leadership and policy coordination necessary to restore global economic prosperity? If so, from where will this leadership come and how will governments forge collective action? If not, what are the likely consequences? Draw on relevant readings and examples where appropriate and fully cite all sources.

Fourth Online Discussion: noon, Thursday, September 28 to noon Saturday, September 30

Discussion prompt to be posted by evening of Wednesday, September 27

Grading:

This is a letter-graded course: A, B, C, D, or F.

POLICIES AND NOTICES

Attendance/Grade Policy

Note: Attendance/absences do not apply to online courses. However, participation in all course activities is extremely important to student success in online courses.

Excused absences are given for professor mandated activities or legally required activities such as emergencies or military assignments. It is the policy of the University to excuse absences of students that result from religious observances and to provide without penalty for the rescheduling of examinations and additional required class work that may fall on religious holidays. Unavoidable personal emergencies, including (but not limited to) serious illness; delays in getting to class because of accidents, etc.; deaths and funerals, and hazardous road conditions will be excused.

If you are obtaining financial assistance (TA, STAP, FA, VA, Scholarship, etc.) to pay all or part of your tuition cost, you must follow your funding agency/institution’s policy regarding “I” (Incomplete) grades unless the timeline is longer than what the University policy allows then you must adhere to the University policy. Students who receive Financial Aid must resolve/complete any “I” (Incomplete) grades by the end of the term or he/she may be placed on “financial aid probation.” If the “I” grade is not resolved/completed by the end of the following term, the student’s Financial Aid may be suspended make the student ineligible for further Financial Aid.

Students are responsible for meeting the guidelines of Tuition Assistance and Veterans Assistance. See the education counselor at your local education center for a complete description of your TA or VA requirements.

Academic Integrity and Student Conduct

Academic integrity means honesty and responsibility in scholarship. Academic assignments exist to help students learn; grades exist to show how fully this goal is attained. Therefore all work and all grades should result from the student's own understanding and effort.

Academic misconduct is any act which improperly affects the evaluation of a student’s academic performance or achievement. Misconduct occurs when the student either knows or reasonably should know that the act constitutes misconduct. Academic misconduct includes: cheating and using unauthorized materials on examinations and other assignments; improper collaboration, submitting the same assignment for different classes (self-plagiarism); fabrication, forgery, alteration of documents, lying, etc…in order to obtain an academic advantage; assisting others in academic misconduct; attempting to commit academic misconduct; destruction of property, hacking, etc…; intimidation and interference with integrity process; and plagiarism. All students should review the Student’s Guide to Academic Integrity at http://integrity.ou.edu/students_guide.html

Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. All students should review policies regarding student conduct at http://studentconduct.ou.edu/

Accommodation Statement
