IAS 5940-221: Topics in International Studies – International Terrorism

Course Description:

While the concept of terrorism is not new to the West, the period since the 1970s embodies terrorism that is distinctly different in style and overall effect from anything previously experienced. This “modern terrorism” has evolved quickly over the past few decades and has, since the al Qaeda attacks of 9/11, been of particular importance to not only the United States but to many other countries around the world.

Terrorist organizations have spread across borders and their ideas and goals have been taken up by like-minded organizations, linked by a common ideology. It is these trans-national organizations that have created the relatively new phenomenon of international terrorism. How has terrorism changed? What effect does the psychology of terrorism have on the free societies of the West and elsewhere? The course will attempt to answer these questions and develop an understanding of the fundamental reasons that terrorism has been effective, at times.

Course Objectives:

This course will study the roots of modern terrorism, how terrorism is defined and what counter-terrorism strategies have developed to limit the expansion of international terrorist organizations. Student will seek to understand why terrorists resort to violence and what goals they are trying to obtain. The nature of failed states and how they fall victim to trans-national terrorist organizations will be assessed. The course will study the methods of recruiting and funding that is so important to keep these organizations operating. Finally, the future of terrorism will be considered, with emphasis on what concerns remain for the West.

Course of Study:

The course will follow a series of 8 lectures with associated readings. Lecture slides and readings will be available for download from the Canvas course webpage prior to the first class. These lectures are entitled:

1. A History of Terrorism;
2. International Terrorism Today – A Status Report;
3. The Psychology of Terrorism;
4. Case Study 1: al Qaeda
5. 9/11 and the Global War on Terrorism (GWOT);
6. Case Study 2: ISIS;
7. Recruiting and Financing Terrorism; and
8. Can Terrorism be Defeated?

Assignments, Grading and Due Dates:

Detailed assignment instructions will be made available to students on the Canvas course webpage one month prior to the first class.

POLICIES AND NOTICES

Attendance/Grade Policy

Attendance and participation in interaction, individual assignments, group exercises, simulations, role playing, etc. are valuable aspects of any course because much of the learning comes from discussions in class with other students. It is expected that you attend all classes and be on time except for excused emergencies.

Excused absences are given for professor mandated activities or legally required activities such as emergencies or military assignments. It is the policy of the University to excuse absences of students that result from religious observances and to provide without penalty for the rescheduling of examinations and additional required class work that may fall on religious holidays. Unavoidable personal emergencies, including (but not limited to) serious illness; delays in getting to class because of accidents, etc.; deaths and funerals, and hazardous road conditions will be excused.

If you are obtaining financial assistance (TA, STAP, FA, VA, Scholarship, etc.) to pay all or part of your tuition cost, you must follow your funding agency/institution’s policy regarding “I” (Incomplete) grades unless the timeline is longer than what the University policy allows then you must adhere to the University policy. Students who receive Financial Aid must resolve/complete any “I” (Incomplete) grades by the end of the term or he/she may be placed on “financial aid probation.” If the “I” grade is not resolved/completed by the end of the following term, the student’s Financial Aid may be suspended make the student ineligible for further Financial Aid.

Students are responsible for meeting the guidelines of Tuition Assistance and Veterans Assistance. See the education counselor at your local education center for a complete description of your TA or VA requirements.

Academic Integrity and Student Conduct

Academic integrity means honesty and responsibility in scholarship. Academic assignments exist to help students learn; grades exist to show how fully this goal is attained. Therefore all work and all grades should result from the student's own understanding and effort.

Academic misconduct is any act which improperly affects the evaluation of a student’s academic performance or achievement. Misconduct occurs when the student either knows or reasonably should know that the act constitutes misconduct. Academic misconduct includes: cheating and using unauthorized materials on examinations and other assignments; improper collaboration, submitting the same assignment for different classes (self-plagiarism); fabrication, forgery, alteration of documents, lying, etc…in order to obtain an academic advantage; assisting others in academic misconduct; attempting to commit academic misconduct; destruction of property, hacking, etc…; intimidation and interference with integrity process; and plagiarism. All students should review the Student’s Guide to Academic Integrity at http://integrity.ou.edu/students_guide.html

Students and faculty each have responsibility for maintaining an appropriate learning environment. All students should review policies regarding student conduct at http://studentconduct.ou.edu/

Accommodation Statement
